FOUR HOURS FREE PERSONAL ASSISTANT

Value:

It has been a long, chaotic, summer mamas, we know it! And, back to school is questionable for many districts, mine included! Are we going, we are already delayed, what's happening? It's hard to make a decision on this fall let alone what's for dinner. We have something to give you a morning or afternoon of harmony to get organized and ready for whatever fall has in store.

As You Wish was established in Denver in 2010 and is a full-service personal assistant company. They handle everything from errands, concierge, organizing, moving management, to corporate and personal events. Think last minute, small, 6-person, socially-distanced birthday party or running the dog to the groomer (if you can even get in!), grocery store, post office, etc. This is for us mamas!

Principal, and creator behind the company, Allison Welch worked as an event planner, executive and personal assistant for over a decade before she formed As You Wish. This summer, she celebrates a decade of business and has consistently expanded her business. Welch now has three additional employees to help cover the expanding regional range of the organization and also the demand.

Mile High Mamas and As You Wish are giving away four free hours of personal assistant service to one lucky mama. Need an idea of how to use the time? I had owner, Allison, to my home (socially-distanced and masked) for an hour of service. What did I have her do? ORGANIZE! I am not certain my children are going back to school and I wanted to get my daughter's room situated for remote learning. I wanted her to be excited. Remember getting new pencils, pens, notebooks, pencil cases? Exactly. The small things.

Below you will see before and after pictures of Allison's magic. I had her get my 9-year-old set up for the fourth grade (at home). Allison had the joy of going through the plastic bag I picked up in May from a school drive-by with my daughter's belongings, year of artwork, etc. She helped decide what needed to stay and go.

When my daughter returned, she did not miss the 200+ items Allison moved and organized. She LOVED the reading nook that was created under her loft bed for her and the pandemic pooch. The room is still organized and well-used over three weeks later. ENTER HERE!
